

Anglia Ruskin
University

Cambridge Ruskin
International College

Psychology: science of the mind

BSc (Hons) Abnormal and Clinical Psychology

BSc (Hons) Psychology

BSc (Hons) Psychology & Criminology

- Our BSc (Hons) Psychology and BSc (Hons) Abnormal and Clinical Psychology courses are accredited by the British Psychological Society
- Extra-curricular weekly seminars, which feature guest presentations from specialist academics and researchers
- Excellent research facilities, including specialist laboratories for measuring electrical activity in the brain, eye movement, psychoneuroimmunology, emotions and communication, psychometrics, human behaviour, consumer reactions
- 100% overall student satisfaction on our BSc (Hons) Psychology & Criminology course
- Our BSc (Hons) Abnormal and Clinical Psychology course is the only bachelor's degree in the UK dedicated to this field
- On our BSc (Hons) Psychology & Criminology course you'll have the opportunity to add experience to your CV by working as a volunteer, or even in a part-time paid job using our links with the local probation service and police

Find out more

anglia.ac.uk/cric

+44 (0)1223 695700

cric@anglia.ac.uk

@cricstudents

facebook.com/CRICuk

